Dear Sir,

Please accept this submission for the JSCEM's Inquiry into the 2007 Federal Election.

I fully support and endorse the Southern Cross Group's request for the Australian Electoral Law to be changed to enable more Australian expatriates to vote.

In this day and age it is so much easier to maintain close contacts with events in Australia whilst living abroad that it would seem reasonable to extend the law to allow more of these people to be able to vote.

Yours faithfully,

Michael Young
